A top-down view of a white ceramic bowl filled with a thick, creamy, light-colored soup. The soup is garnished with a small pile of finely chopped green onions in the center. The bowl sits on a light-colored marble surface. To the left of the bowl are several whole onions with their roots. To the right is a small white bowl with a black rim containing a smooth, yellow mustard. A wooden spoon with a dollop of mustard is on a black and white checkered cloth napkin to the right of the main bowl. A red maple leaf is positioned at the bottom center of the image.
